HAVE READY TO-DAY:

25th THOUSAND.

Kipling's "The Day's Work."

Unquestionably the most noteworthy event of 1898 in the world of books is this new volume containing twelve stories by Mr. Kipling.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ x 8 $\frac{1}{4}$; Binding, green cloth; Pages, 431; Type, 10-point; Illustrations, 8 full pages by W. L. Taylor, W. D. Stevens, Sonntag, Blumenschein and others; Price, \$1.50.

LIBRARY EDITION "Cyrano de Bergerac."

With 8 full-page illustrations, printed on Japan paper. 12mo, deckle edge paper, $1.00. 7th Thousand Handy Edition, cloth, 50 cents, net. The translation is by Miss Gertude Hall, and is especially a reading version, being in prose.

Birds that Hunt and are Hunted.

By Neltje Blanchan.

This is a companion volume to the author's very successful "Bird Neighbors" (of which 20,000 have been printed since it appeared, a year ago), and it presents complete life histories of 170 of our game and water birds as birds of prey. Its 48 colored plates, photographed direct from the birds themselves, are astonishingly beautiful and lifelike, while Mr. Shields, the well-known sportsman, author and editor, says of the author's text: "It is safe to say no work of its class has been issued in modern times that contains so much valuable information, presented with such felicity and charm."

The two volumes are furnished together in a very handsome box, forming the "Popular Ornithology," with 100 colored plates and of quite unique interest to all bird-lovers. Price, $4.00.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ x 10 $\frac{3}{8}$; Pages, 359; Binding, strong green cloth; Type, 11-point. Printed on fine paper, full margins for notes; 48 Colored plates; Price, \$2.00.

The Nameless Castle. By Dr. Maurus Jokai.

A brilliant novel, dealing with the Hungarian army employed against Napoleon, in 1809, by a writer who has well earned his title of "The Hungarian Dumas." The translation has been made under Dr. Jokai's direction, and he has written an introduction addressed to American readers. The Doubleday & McClure Co. are now the authorized American publishers of all future translations of Jokai's works.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5 x 7 $\frac{1}{2}$; Binding, linen cloth, with the Hungarian Coat of Arms; Pages, 353; Frontispiece, new portrait of the author in court costume; Type, 10-point; Price, \$1.25.

Flashlights on Nature.

By Grant Allen.

Mr. Allen has here described some of the every-day miracles in the lives of our most familiar insects and plants. Some of his chapter titles—such as "The Cows that Ants Milk," "A Plant that Melts Ice," "Marriage among the Clovers," etc.—give an idea of the intimate charm with which he invests his fascinating subject. The 120 illustrations by Frederick Enoch are drawn from life under the microscope, and are very noteworthy.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ x 8; Pages, 312; Illustrations, 120; Woodcuts from drawings by Frederick Enoch; Binding, unique wood; Type, 11-point; Price, \$1.50.

What shall our Boys Do for a Living?

By Charles Wingate.

Mr. Wingate's motto in this book is Abraham Lincoln's famous saying: "Give your boys a chance." The author has spent twenty years in study and investigation of his subject, and his keen and practical advice to young men is supplemented by quotations from interviews he has had with hundreds of successful Americans.

SPECIFICATIONS:—Size, 5 x 7 $\frac{1}{2}$; Pages, 300; Binding, cloth, decorated design; Type, 10-point; Price, \$1.00.

NOTES IN SEASON.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will issue shortly "Was Christ Born at Bethlehem? a study in the credibility of St. Luke," by Dr. W. M. Ramsay, professor in Aberdeen University, author of "St. Paul the Traveller," etc.

DODD, MEAD & CO. publish to-day a new volume by Hamilton W. Mabie, entitled "Essays on Work and Culture," which supplements the author's former works "Essays on Books and Culture" and "Essays on Nature and Culture." Work is interpreted by Mr. Mabie on the expression of a man's life through his activities, and on the chief instrument of his development and growth. Mr. Mabie's works are now published in uniform style in eight volumes, each in dainty binding.

THE CENTURY CO. will issue early next month a handsome edition of "The Pilgrim's Progress," with the illustrations and decorations by the three brothers Louis, George, and Frederick Rhead, which were exhibited in New York last winter. The Tribune said of these pictures at the time of their exhibition: "Certainly no more artistic enterprise than this has ever been carried through in this country." The work of the artists is somewhat in the style of Albert Dürer. The book is to be printed in tint.

BRUNO HESSLING, New York, has just published the first part of the first volume of the "Archives de la Commission des Monuments Historiques," brought out under the patronage and with the assistance of the Administration des Beaux Arts, by Baudot and Perrault-Dabot. This is considered to be the most important and complete work describing the historical monuments of French architecture, published thus far. The matter will be arranged according to province with historical notes concerning the various "schools" or styles of architecture in France.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day the second and concluding volume of Prof. Walter A. Wyckoff's unique narrative of his experience in the ranks of the proletariat, entitled "The Workers," in which he relates his adventures while earning his living as an unskilled laborer in the West; "Frontier Stories," by Cy Warman; a new edition—entitled The Tarryawhile edition—of George W. Cable's romances, in five twelvemo volumes; "Wild Animals I Have Known," by Ernest Seton Thompson, with 200 illustrations from drawings by the author; "The Billy-Goat, and other Comicalities," by E. W. Kemble; and "The Hundred Years' War, 1328-1485 A.D., by C. W. C. Oman, a new volume in the Oxford Manuals of English History series.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "Henry Esmond, English Humorists, Four Georges, and Charity and Humor," a new volume of the Biographical edition of Thackeray's works, with an introduction by Mrs. Ritchie, and illustrations by Du Maurier, Barnard, and Dicksee; "Roden's Corner," a new novel by Henry Seton Merriman, which is said to be a study of late phases and developments in fashionable English charities and which illustrates the state of society that has made possible the recent scandals with regard to the British peerage; "The Red Axe," a story of adventure, with the scenes laid in Pomerania three centuries ago, by S. R. Crockett; a new and revised edition of William Blake's book, "How to Get Strong and How to Stay So;" and the bound volume of Harper's Round Table for 1898.

A. C. MCCLURG & CO. have just ready "Love in Epigram, sapient guesses and foolish conceits about the tender passion," compiled by Frederick W. Newton; also, "Florida Alexander, a Kentucky girl," a novel by Eleanor Talbot Kinkead. They have nearly ready a story of Revolutionary times by M. Imlay Taylor, author of "On the Red Staircase," entitled "A Yankee Volunteer," in which the author gives vivid descriptions of the fight at Bunker Hill, the siege of Boston, and the skirmishes round New York and Trenton; "Three Freshmen," a story of the life of three girl students at Smith College, by Jessie Anderson Chase; "Sir Jefferson Nobody," a story for young people, by Effie W. Merriman; and "General Nelson's Scout," a story of struggle in Central Kentucky during the Civil War in 1861, by Byron A. Dunn.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; i. the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., oblong, nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, W. I. Lincoln. In nature's image: chapters on pictorial photography. N. Y., Baker & Taylor Co., 1898. c. 5-112 p. il. O. cl., $2.50. [3115]

A volume similar in design to "Sunlight and shadow," and supplementing it by leading the reader a little farther along the pleasant paths of pictorial photography. "Sunlight and shadow" was principally written and illustrated from the standpoint of the landscape or out-of-door subject, and thereby rather subordinated the more difficult, perhaps, but also more advanced work of figure composition, portraiture, and kindred subjects such as the present work deals with. Illustrated with page and text photographs and printed on heavy gilt-edge paper, richly bound.

Adams, W. Marsham. The book of the master; or, the Egyptian doctrine of the light born of the Virgin mother. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, [1898.] c. 22+204 p. il. O. cl., $1.25. [3116]

Presents a new study on the religion of ancient Egypt. The author dwells much on the doctrine and function of Hathor, the Mother of the Divine Horus and Queen of Heaven, especially in connection with her temple at Denderah. It was from that temple that the famous planisphere, now preserved in Paris, was taken, wherein the principal figure is that of the Holy Mother, enthroned with the Divine Infant in her arms. By the author of "The house of the hidden places."

Allen, Willis Boyd. Around the Yule log. Bost., The Pilgrim Press, [1898.] c. 4-181 p. il. O. cl., $1.25. [3117]

Eleven stories relating to Christmas.

Arblay, Mme. Frances Burney d'. Evelina; or, the history of a young lady's entrance into the world; il. by Arthur Rackham. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1898. 15+417 p. D. cl., $2.50. [3118]

Ashmore, Ruth. The business girl in every phase of her life. N. Y., Doubleday & McClure Co., [1898.] c. '95-'98. 6+176 p. 1 il. S. (Ladies' Home Journal girls' lib.) leath., $1; cl., 50 c. [3119]

Contents: What honesty in business means; The girl's relations with her employer; Life in a boarding-house; Having a familiar friend; Proper care of her wardrobe; Her money and what to do with it; Her social position; When she goes to church; In her time of sorrow; Her best reading; When vacation comes; Her evening enjoyment.

Badger, Jos. E., jr. The lost city; il. by L. J. Bridgman. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. 6-326 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3120]

A story of a lost race of Aztecs supposed to inhabit the Olympian Mountains, in the heart of the state of Washington.

Baring-Gould, Sabine. Domitia; il. by Izora C. Chandler. N. Y., F: A. Stokes Co., [1898.] c. 4+348 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3121]

A novel dealing with the early Christian life of Rome. Domitia, the daughter of General Cnaeus Domitius Corbulo, is the heroine of the story. General Corbulo dies by his own hand at the instance of the cruel Nero, for an offence against the pagan gods of Rome. Domitia's life is thereafter devoted to avenging her father's death; in the end, however, she is converted to Christianity and suffers the fate of martyrdom for her religion.

Barrie, J. Matthew. A lady's shoe. N. Y. Brentano's, [1898.] c. '93. 3+77 p. nar. S. cl., 50 c.; leath., $1. [3122]

Barton, W: E. D.D. The Psalms and their story: a study of the Psalms as related to Old Testament history; with a preliminary study of Hebrew poetry and music. In 2 v. V. 1, From the Exodus; v. 2, From the Exile to the Advent. Bost., The Pilgrim Press, 1898. c. 12+249; 9+267 p. D. cl., $2.50. [3123]

Designed for Sunday-school teachers, Bible classes, pastors with small libraries, and students of the English Bible generally. The book has been made as small and as free from technical discussions as possible. It is intended to supplement the works now in the hands of these readers, by suggesting the historical conditions out of which the different Psalms have grown. It considers the Psalms as literature, leaving other books to supply devotional suggestions.

Barton, W: E. The story of a pumpkin pie told in verse by W: E. Barton, and in pictures by A. M. Willard. Bost., The Pilgrim Press, [1898.] c. 3-50 p. il. O. cl., 75 c. [3124]

Verses written to go with twenty sketches illustrating the evolution of a pumpkin pie; for children.

Bates, Helen Page. Australian experiments in industry. Phil., American Acad. of Political and Social Science. [1898.] 20-41 p. O. (Publications of the society, no. 236.) pap., 25 c. [3125]

The experiments Dr. Bates refers to are those conducted by the governments of the various Australian colonies. Paternalism has been successfully carried on in Australia to an extent scarcely dreamed of elsewhere. Road-building was among the first governmental enterprises. The railways, telegraph, and telephone are also under government control. The post-office conducts postal savings banks. Irrigation is a government function, and the government supplies water for working the gold fields, besides helping the farmers get rid of the rabbit pest. In other ways the lumberman, the vine grower, the dairyman, and the sugar-planter are aided by the government.

Beaton, D: Cyrus the magician: a story of magic in the worship of Diana and the gospel in Asia. Bost., The Pilgrim Press, 1898. c. 3-243 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3126]

The scene is laid in the apostolic period, when Ephesus was at the height of its glory. The young reader is introduced to an interesting group, Simon Magus and the martyr Stephen being among them.

Blaikie, W: How to get strong and how to stay so. New enl. ed. from new plates. N. Y., Harper, 1898. c. '79, '98. 10+510 p. pors. il. D. cl., $1.75. [3127]

The first edition of "How to get strong" was published in 1879. This new volume covers a far more extensive field than the former, calling to its aid all that has been learned on this subject in the interim. The book is meant, not for athletes only, but for all. In its various chapters it takes up the subjects: Why men should exercise daily; Some results of brief systematic exercise; Work for the fleshy, the thin, the old; Special exercises for any given muscles; What exercise to take daily, etc. Following are portraits and personal descriptions of strong men of the past and present.

Brine, Mary D. Poor Sallie and her Christmas, and other stories; il. by Florence K.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

Bulwer-Lytton, Sir E: G: Earle Lytton, [Lord Lytton.] Paul Clifford. Illustrated holiday ed. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., 1898. 9+472 p. O. cl., $2; hf. mor., $4. [3130]

Bulwer-Lytton, Sir E: G: Earle Lytton, [Lord Lytton.] A strange story. Illustrated holiday ed. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., 1898. 10+499 p. il. O. cl., $2; hf. mor., $4. [3131]

Burns, Rob. Selections from the poems of Robert Burns; ed., with introd., notes and vocabulary, by J: G. Dow. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1898. c. 96+287 p. por. D. (Athenaeum Press ser.) cl., $1.20. [3132]

The selection aims to furnish, in moderate compass, illustration of the character and range of Burns' genius. After a brief biographical sketch of Burns the introduction passes into a purely literary discussion, the topics being: The Scottish tongue; Scotch literature before Burns; Burns' work in its relation to the past; Burns' work in general. There is a selected bibliography (4 p.).

Burrell, D: Ja., D.D. The wondrous cross, and other sermons. N. Y., Wilbur B. Ketcham, [1898.] c. 351 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3133]

Contents: The wondrous cross; The easy yoke; An unfinished letter; The steps to the ivory throne; Seiah; One church; The logia; Everybody's preacher; What the law could not do; I thirst; Kneeling at open windows; In the days of Herod, the King; The pass-over pilgrims; Euodia and Syntiche; The immeasurable God; How the worlds were framed: As a refiner of silver; One religion: all others false; The glory in the face of Jesus; The dignity of labor; A plea for fanaticism; The withered hand; The beacon of Beth Haccerem; A certain nobleman; The fortunate angel; The pride of Naaman; The hands of Jesus; The strength of a young man; The sword of Goliath; The gospel of certainty; The tower of Babel; The rending of the veil.

*Campbell, Rob., ed. Ruling cases; arr., annot., and ed., by Robert Campbell, assisted by other members of the bar; with Am. notes by Irving Brown. V. 16, Larceny act-mandate. Bost., Boston Book Co., 1898. c. 30+806 p. O. shp., $5.50. [3135]

Capes, Bernard. Adventures of the Comte de la Muette during the Reign of Terror. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1898. c. '97, '98. 5+294 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3136]

A series of vivid impressions of the extraordinary events of the French Revolution, through which runs a charming romance.

Cartoons of the war of 1898 with Spain from leading foreign and American papers. Chic., Belford, Middlebrook & Co., 1898. c. unp. obl. D. cl., $1.25. [3137]

A selection from the thousands of available cartoons that appeared in prominent papers during our war with Spain, arranged in a logical and historical sequence.

Chatterbox, [1898:] ed. by J. Erskine Clarke. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. '79-'87. 4+412 p. il. O. cl., $1.75; bds., $1.25. [3138]

Cheever, Mrs. Harriet A. Little Mr. Van Vere of China; il. by Etheldred B. Barry. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. 6-243 p. sq. O. cl., $1.25. [3139]

Donny Hilborn grew up to his eighth year in Sunrise Court, New York City, knowing no other guardian than old "Granny Hilborn." When granny died and he was about to be "bound out," he went as a stowaway to China. Here, with many other wonderful happenings, he finds a father, whom he long supposed dead.

Cheever, Mrs. Harriet A. The strange adventures of Billy Trill; il. by Etheldred B. Barry. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. 7-82 p. sq. D. (Young of heart ser.) cl., 50 c. [3140]

A story of a canary's mishaps as told by himself.

Choyce, Ja. The log of a Jack tar; or, the life of James Choyce, master mariner, now first published; with O'Brien's captivity in France; ed. by V. Lovett Cameron; with introd. and notes. New il. popular ed. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1897. 14+379 p. il. D. (Adventure ser., no. 6.) cl., $1.25. [3141]

A true and faithful account of the adventures of a seaman in the end of last century and the commencement of this; it enables one to form a correct idea of what manner of men they were who formed the crews of the fleets which maintained England's naval supremacy in those days. Further, it is valuable as giving a very good account of Chili and Peru before they threw off the Spanish yoke. Captain O'Brien, like Choyce, is a real person, his narrative being an account of his own experience.

Costello, F. H. Under the rattlesnake flag; il. by J. Steeple Davis. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. 5-302 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3142]

A sea story, rich in adventure of the early days of the American Revolution when privateering was in vogue.

*Creighton, Ja. Edwin. An introductory logic. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 14+392 p. 12°, cl., net, $1.10. [3143]

Crockett, S. Rutherford. The red axe; il. by Frank Richards. N. Y., Harper, [1898.] c. 6+178 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3144]

A strong story of adventure, with the scenes laid in Pomerania three centuries ago. The hero, Hugo Gottfried, the son of Gottfried Gottfried, called the Red Axe, the fourteenth in the line of the Hereditary Executioners of the Wolfmark, is an impetuous youngster who, after many adventures, enters the service of Prince Karl of Plassenburg. He is accompanied by Helene, his little playmate—the daughter of a noble who has lost his life by the Red Axe—who becomes lady in waiting to Lady Ysolinde, Princess of Plassenburg. The Princess falls in love with Hugo—who loves Helene—and schemes to win him. From here follow many other adventures, ending in a surprise.

Cuthell, Mrs. Edith E. A bad little girl and her good little brother; il. by Mrs. Farmiloe. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., [1898.] 2-220 p. D. cl., 80 c. [3145]

An English story of a girl and boy who make a visit to their grandmother, while their father and mother take a journey to Switzerland.

De Quincey, T: De Quincey's revolt of the Tartars; ed., with an introd. and notes, by W. E. Simonds. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1898. c. 23+84 p. por. D. (Standard English classics.) cl., 35 c. [3146]

*Dodd, Catherine I. Introduction to the Herbartian principles of teaching; with an introd. by W. Rein. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 9+198 p. 12°, cl., net, $1.10. [3147]

Dromgoole, Miss Will Allen. A boy's battle. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., 1898. c. 5-91 p. il. sq. D. (Young of heart ser., no. 8.) cl., 50 c. [3148]

The boy's battle was with his conscience. Accidentally Andrew Pearson shoots a negro in a tree, taking him for a coon; another negro is arrested on the charge of having murdered him, and comes near to being hanged before Andrew finds sufficient courage to tell the truth.

Dromgoole, Miss Will Allen. Cinch, and other stories: tales of Tennessee. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. 5-362 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3149]

Contents: Cinch; The leper of the Cumberlands; Old Hickory's ball; A scrap of college lore; George Washington's "brefday"; A parable of four talents; Sweet 'laases; A grain of gold; A day in Asia; A humble advocate; "appine.

Drury, Rob. Madagascar; or, Robert Drury's journal during fifteen years' captivity on that island, and a further description of Madagascar, by the Abbe Alexis Rochon; ed., with an introd. and notes, by Pastfield Oliver. Popular ed. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1897. 4-398 p. il. D. (Adventure ser., no. 2.) cl., $1.25. [3150]

A Robinson Crusoe-like narrative of shipwreck and adventure, which the writer, Robert Drury, when he published it in 1729, declared to be "a faithful narrative of matters of fact." Besides many remarkable adventures by a man who, if not a pirate, had been uncommonly intimate with pirates, there are authentic descriptions of the people, scenery, customs, and religion of the people of Madagascar.

“ Carol” was the name given to little Lord Carnegie, because he was a Christmas baby. He was the son and heir of a noble English family; his four sisters did not count at all in comparison with him. He was in a fair way of being spoiled, when one day he is lost, and for five years not discovered. He thus became the “Child of Cloverlea,” and is brought home as “the little lame lord,” who has learned new lessons of life through physical suffering and good example.

Foster, Rob. F. Foster's common sense leads and how to read them. N. Y., Bren-tano's, [1898.] c. 39 p. sq. D. bds., 25 c. [3154]

The old leads, as they are called, and the American leads, which shared the field with them for a time, are no longer played in their integrity, and in their place has sprung up a system of leads based upon common-sense considerations of the average value of the hand from which the lead is made. What these leads are, and how to learn them, is the purpose of this little book to show.

Little Phil Fuzzytop finds himself in dreamland in somewhat the same manner that Alice strayed into Wonderland. He becomes a messenger of the “Dream-maker” and carries dreams to all kinds of people and to all parts of the world, and learns a great many odd sort of things about dreams, and how and why they are apportioned out.

Jackson, Ida. When hyacinths bloom. Bost., A. I. Bradley & Co., [1898.] 3-251 p. il. D. cl., $1. [3167]

The scene is in Scotland. Ada Rayner, the daughter of an insolvent banker, decides to accept a position as governess in order to eke out her scanty income; as Mrs. Wood's governess she meets Farquhar Dunbar, a relative of her exacting employer, a betrothal follows, and the romantic lover insists upon keeping his tryst in the blooming time of the hyacinths.

James, H. The two magics: The turn of the screw; Covering end. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 393 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3168]

Two stories are united under the title of “The two magics,” which, we take it, stands for the magic of evil and of good. “The turn of the screw” is a modern ghost story; two little children being haunted by the ghosts of a dead governess and her lover, two unnaturally bad people, who had corrupted the children in life. The picture of these two apparently innocent children, so beautiful and so attractive, and yet so vile at heart, is terribly gruesome. The second sketch,

'Covering end,' is a pleasant comedy in which a wealthy American widow figures, who desires to be the possessor of an old English country place with the odd name of the title and who finally takes the owner with the house.

A little three-year old girl, neglected by her nurse, is lost near the Grand Central Station, New York. Joe Potter, a newsboy, finds her, and then his troubles begin. An advertisement for him in the paper frightens him so seriously that he believes the "law" is after him, and he flies to New Jersey with the "Princess," as he names the child. Joe and his boy friends have a number of thrilling adventures before they are found by the child's parents.

Kenealy, Arabella. Woman and the shadow: a novel. N. Y. and Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., [1898.] c. 2-389 p. D. cl., $1. [3175]

A novel depicting the fads and foibles of English social life. The principal characters are Major Kershaw, son of the impecunious Lady Kershaw, Millicent Rivers, whose father had made a fortune in trade, and Lady Alicia Dovecate, an impoverished and heartless beauty, who wins the love of Major Kershaw. Millicent Rivers likewise loves the Major, but realizing his happiness depended on his marrying Alicia, she sacrifices her own interests to encompass this.

King, Grace. De Soto and his men in the land of Florida; il. by G: Gibbs. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. 12+326 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3176]

A story based upon Spanish and Portuguese accounts of "conquest" by the brilliant armada which sailed under De Soto in 1538 to subdue this country. Miss King gives most entertaining stories of the invaders' struggles and of their final demoralized rout, while her account of the native tribes is a most attractive feature in the narrative.

Levere, W: Imperial America: the policy of national expansion. Chic., Forbes & Co., [N. Y., The Baker & Taylor Co.,] 1898. c. 128 p. D. pap., 25 c. [3183]

The writer is in favor of national expansion. His book is written in story form and the discussions are in dialogue. "Uncle Sam" explains his policy of expansion; "Picayune Patriot" objects to everything; James Monroe himself expounds "The Monroe doctrine." The whole field of America's history is brought before the reader, showing that the same objections now offered against expansion by Picayune Patriot were offered when Louisiana was purchased, and when every other important addition was made to our territory.

Dr. Lindsay endeavors to find a constantly recurring factor in the socializing process which is fundamental to the concept of society in all stages of development, and which therefore can be regarded as a unit of investigation, consideration, or reference for all truly sociological data. The unit he advocates is the social imperative, which he describes as the modifying influence which makes the individual act differently in the presence of his fellow-men from the way in which he would probably act in the same circumstances if he were alone.

Contains an account of the various issues of paper and other flat money in New England during colonial times, with their unvarying history of depreciation. The evil results, both industrial and political, which this currency brought to the colony are also set forth, and the author points to these results as a warning to the American people of to day against the adoption of any but a sound currency.

Merewether, F. H. S. A tour through the famine districts of India. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1898. 8+340 p. il. map, O. cl., $4.50. [3190]

"This volume is the mere journalistic record of a man who travelled through the length and breadth of the famine districts of India; in which he has endeavored to depict, with perhaps too light a brush, the various scenes that came under his personal observation. He has gathered up from various and numerous sources a mass of information—useful and otherwise—and this he now puts into the hands of the public."—Preface. He has as far as possible merely hinted at the awful and gruesome sights and scenes which it was his lot to witness and which he is convinced any word painting of his would fail to accurately portray. He relies upon a series of thirty-two full-page photographs taken on the spot to bring forcibly before his readers the true condition of things. Mr. Merewether was the special representative of Reuter's News Agency.

According to the original title, this work relates to Pinto's "travels during the space of twenty-one years in the kingdoms of Ethiopia, China, Tartaria, Cauchin-China, Calaminham, Siam, Pegu, Japan, and a great part of the East Indies; with a relation and description of most of the places thereof, their religion, laws, riches, customs, and government in the time of peace and war; where he five times suffered shipwreck, was fifteen times sold, and thirteen times made a slave." This work is regarded as a classic in Portuguese. It was first printed in London in 1663, many years after Pinto's death, the exact date of which is unknown. He was born in the early part of the 16th century. His adventures were written by himself in Portuguese.

Ragozin, Mme. Zénaïde Alexeïeona. Siegfried the hero of the North, and Beowulf, the hero of the Anglo Saxons. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. c. 25+332 p. (Tales of the heroic ages ser., no. 1.) cl., $1.50. [3208]

The first of a series of volumes, for home reading, or supplemental school reading, to be devoted to presenting in a clear and interesting manner the northern and oriental epics. The contents of the present volume are the stories of Siegfried, the hero of the north, and Kriemhilde's great revenge adapted from the German epic the "Lay of the Nibelungs," and Beowulf, the hero of the Anglo-Saxons. A prose rendering is given, closely following the language and spirit of the original after the manner of Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," etc. The story is often modified and expurgated to make it suitable for young readers.

In the opinion of Annice Wynkoop's native village, the Wynkoops were an unlucky family. The story tells of Annice's aspiration to become an artist and how she accomplished this, giving her decidedly interesting experiences while a student at Cooper Union, and dwelling upon the incident of Nan's prize picture, which proved to her admiring friends that "ill luck" was a fallacy so far as she was concerned. The story has also romantic issues.

Sardou, Victorien. The black pearl. N. Y., Brentano's, [1898] c. '88. 3+71 p. nar. S. cl., 50 c.; leath., $1. [3213]

Scott, Hugh S. ["Henry Seton Merriman," pseud.] Roden's corner; il. by T. de Thulstrup. N. Y., Harper, 1898. c. 8-323 p. D. cl., $1.75. [3215]

By implication, the novel is a criticism of the worst form of corruption in the British nobility, and touches upon certain falsely altruistic tendencies in modern charities. A German chemist, Von Holzen, has obtained possession of a recipe for the manufacture of malgamite, which saves about one-half the cost, but is so dangerous to the lives of the operatives that paper manufacturers have tactfully refused to employ it. Von Holzen enlists the services of a British peer, Lord Ferriby, who, by representing in fashionable London circles that the new process is less dangerous than the one commonly employed, forms a charity organization for its manufacture. With the money thus secured, Von Holzen and his financial manager, Roden, start a manufactory near The Hague, where they are protected from investigation and punishment by the peculiarities of international law. The action of the story is concerned with the detection and punishment of Von Holzen and Roden.

Shipp, J: Memoirs of the extraordinary military career of John Shipp, late a Lieut. in His Majesty's, 87th regiment; written by himself. Popular ed., with an introd. by H. Manners Chichester. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., [1898.] 3-386 p. il. D. (Adventure ser., no. 3.) cl., $1.25. [3216]

John Shipp was born in Suffolk, England, 1785. His memoirs first appeared in 1829. The present volume is a reprint of the edition of 1843, containing supplementary matter and bringing the narrative down to Shipp's death. Shipp served with the 87th in the second campaign of the Ghurka war, and distinguished himself by a single combat with one of the enemy's sirdars in the action near Muckwaupore. He also served at the siege of Hattrass and was the hero of many other thrilling adventures.

Folk stories pertaining to Canada and Mexico, by the author of "Myths and legends of our own land." Some of the titles are Explorers and aborigines; Myths of creation; Heaven and hell; Gloskap at Menagwes; The dogs of Clote Scaurp; Troubles on the St. Lawrence; The golden dog; The mountain and the sea; The sin of Father St. Bernard; White visitors before Columbus; The white God; The ark on Colhuacan; Fathers of Miztecs; The Aztec Tannhäuser; The death-dance of Tezcatlipoca. The Canadian legends precede the Mexican myths.

Skinner, C: M. With feet to the earth; il. by Violet Oakley and E: Stratton Holloway. [New ed.] Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1899, [1898.] c. '97-'98. 231 p. D. (Do-nothing days lib.) cl., $1.50. [3220] See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., November 6, 1897, [1845.]

Steuart, J: A. The minister of state: a novel. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1898. c. 3+422 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3221]

The story opens in a farmyard in Scotland, with a boy named Evan Kinlock, who herds cattle. The boy shows great intelligence, but gets into all manner of trouble. After subduing a wild bull, and mastering a vicious horse his abilities are recognized and he is sent to school. He works himself up from one grade to another, and finally carries off all the honors of the university. He becomes a lawyer and ultimately Her Majesty's home secretary and a baronet. A pretty love story runs through the book.

Stockton, Frank R. Buccaneers and pirates of our coasts; il. by G: Varian and B. West Clinedinist. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. c. '97, '98. 6+325 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3222]

Stories taken from the lives of sea-robbers, pirates, and buccaneers who have a world-wide reputation.

Beginning with "Some masters in piracy," under which title are included Columbus and Sir Francis Drake, the writer goes through the annals of the many heroes of the sea, ending with Captain Kidd. The romance and cruelties belonging to these stories are vividly presented, with much of the author's quaint humor.

Stone, Ja. S.: D.D. Woods and dales of Derbyshire. New ed. Phil., G: W. Jacobs & Co., 1898. 4-180 p. por. il. O. cl., $1. [3223]

Stratemeyer, E: The minute boys of Lexington; il. by A. B. Shute. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1898.] c. 6+291 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3224]

The story leads the reader through the early days of the Revolution, and through the battles of Concord and Lexington; the fight at Bunker Hill and the siege of Boston are reserved for another volume. The heroes are about sixteen.

Strobel, E: H: The Spanish revolution, 1868-1875. Bost., Small, Maynard & Co., 1898. c. 5+293 p. por. D. cl., $1.50. [3225]

The revolution of 1868 is the most interesting period in the modern history of Spain. It marks the transition from the Spain of Ferdinand VII. and Isabella II. to the Spain of Alfonso XII. and the Regency, and it forms, at the same time, an episode entirely distinct from the history which precedes and follows it. This sketch was written in the early part of 1893 from materials collected during the author's residence in Madrid from 1888 to 1890 as Secretary of the United States Legation, with the intention at some future day of making it a part of a larger work.

Sykes, Ella C. Through Persia on a side-saddle. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1898. 4+362 p. por. il. maps, O. cl., $4.50. [3226]

A unique journey is here described through Persia. Miss Sykes travelled with her brother, who had passed some years in Persia on service for the English Government, and her manuscript had the benefit of his revision. She is, she believes, the first European woman who has visited Kerman and Persian Baluchistan. Contents in part: The journey to the capital of Persia; Tehran; From the capital to Fatima's shrine at Koom; As far as Kashan; On the march to Yezd; The goal of our journey; Housekeeping at Kerman; Kerman and its environs; Olla podrida; In the footprints of Marco Polo; Arababad and Sagotch, Persian ladies and some Persian customs; Through the desert to Bampur and Pahra; To Kuhak and the frontier commission, etc., etc.

Taylor, C: M., Jr. Vacation days in Hawaii and Japan. Phil., G: W. Jacobs & Co., 1898. c. 5-361 p. il. O. cl., $2. [3227]

The outline of a three months' tour in the Hawaiian Islands and Japan, supplemented by camera and sketch-book. In the journey through Japan the author treads no beaten tracks, but, after visiting the most important cities, penetrates far into the heart of the country and to districts hitherto untravelled by English-speaking people, where the native is seen in his primitive condition. The illustrations from photographs are a feature of this handsome volume.

Tomlinson, Everett T. Stories of the American Revolution. Pt. 2. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1898. c. 7+193 p. il. D. (Library of heroic events.) cl., $1. [3234]

As in the volume of stories which preceded this present collection, the basis of each is true historically. The incidents have been collected and selected from early works, many of which have long been out of print.

Trelawny, E: J: Adventures of a younger son. Popular ed., with an introd. by E. Garnett. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1897. 521 p. por. il. D. (Adventure ser., no. 1.) cl., $1.25. [3235]

A narrative partly based upon Trelawny's life and partly drawn from his imagination. Trelawny was an Englishman, the friend of Byron and Shelley; he fought with the former in Greece, and wrote one of the most widely read volumes about these famous men—"Records of Shelley, Byron, and the Author." He was b 1792; d. 1881.

United States. Federal reporter, v. 87. Permanent ed. July-Aug., 1898. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1898. c. 30+1050 p. O. (National reporter system, U. S. ser.) shp., $5. [3236]

Cases argued and determined in the circuit courts of appeals and circuit and district courts of the U. S. A table of statutes construed is given in the index.

Verne, Jules. An antarctic mystery; tr. by Mrs. Cashel Hoey. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1899, [1898.] 6+336 p. O. cl., $1.50. [3237]

In this romance of extravagant fancies and improbable incidents, "The Adventures of Arthur Gordon Pym," so graphically described by Edgar Allan Poe, are supposed to be real. The hero is Captain Len Guy. Captain Len claims that he is the brother of Captain William Guy, who figures in Poe's remarkable story. The history of Len Guy's quest for his brother, believed to have been wrecked, as Poe recounts, is told by a certain Jeorling, one of the searching party on the Halbrane. "The Antarctic mystery" is a gigantic lodestone. The events that happen in sight of this natural phenomenon are singularly interesting.

Watson, W: The adventures of a blockade runner; or, trade in time of war; il. by Captain Byng. Popular ed. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1898. 10+324 p. D. (Adventure ser., no. 7.) cl., $1.25. [3238]

The adventures of an Englishman in running the Southern blockade during our Civil War. He is the author, also, of "Life in the Confederate Army." This work was first published in 1892.

Whitcomb, Jessie Wright. His best friend. Bost., The Pilgrim Press, [1898.] c. 2-295 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3239]

The story of a bright, shrewd tenement-house boy, who found his best friend in Christ.

Wilks, Abraham S. The handbook of solo whist; containing a general explanation of its methods, principles and practice, with illustrative hands, and the new standard code of laws adopted by the leading sporting clubs. N. Y., Brentano's, [1898.] 3-204 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3240]

"The handbook of solo whist" is designed to take the place of "How to play solo whist," by the same author. While it necessarily embodies matter that has already appeared in its predecessor, the work as a whole is practically rewritten. The main object has been to afford full instruction to the beginner. The book received the hall mark of approval of the chief London sporting clubs, and is now adopted by them as the standard work of reference.

*Wilson, Lucy Langdon Williams. History reader for elementary schools; arr. with special reference to holidays. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 618 p. 16°, cl., 60 c.; or, in 4 pts., separately, ea., 20 c. Pt. 5, a selection from above, 20 c. [3241]

Yonge, Charlotte Mary. The patriots of Palestine: a story of the Maccabees; il. by W. S. Stacey. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1898. c. 7+263 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3242]

Founded on early Hebrew history. The time is about 174 B.C. The Maccabees, or deliverers of Judea from the Syrian King Antiochus Epiphanes, are the heroes; their struggles for the cause of Judaism are faithfully depicted, with other incidents of biblical history. To a certain extent the records of the Apocrypha have been drawn upon.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

ALL-AROUND KNOWLEDGE OF THE STORE.

WHO has not been annoyed, in large stores especially, at the ignorance of not a few salesmen of what is kept in departments, or sections, of the store other than that under their immediate care. Even in stores of smaller size one is apt to meet with the clerk who, when applied to for information that does not happen to pertain to his own particular corner, or to his own duties, will either betray his ignorance by a vacuous stare, or who, when frightened into action by the inquisitorial look of his employer, will, with his interlocutor in tow, hunt up the directory of the store, generally the "buyer," who may at the moment be wrestling with half a dozen customers of his own, to obtain the desired information. Oftener than not in the busy seasons of the year the inquiring customer will be sent by one clerk ignorant of what is wanted to another clerk in the same predicament, and so be obliged to walk backward and forward and around—fortunate if not also obliged to climb up and down stairs—before he happens to fall into the hands of a well-posted clerk. If the customer happens to be of the high-spirited kind he will very likely walk in one direction only; if not served there he will retrace his steps and leave the store, rarely ever to return. And no one but an unreasonable storekeeper will find fault with him.

Every salesman, whether he sells books or stove polish, whether he be employed in a small store or in a mammoth one divided into a number of departments, should, in the one case, have a minute knowledge of the whole stock, no matter in what part of the establishment it is kept, and, in the other case, have such a fairly intimate knowledge of the features of the business that he may be able at all times to serve as a guide in directing inquiring customers.

Not only should the salesmen be ambitious to acquire this knowledge for themselves—they should be obliged to acquire it. The trouble is that most storekeepers do not take the pains to teach their help properly, whether it be the details of the store, the correct methods of handling customers, or facts in regard to the stock which they are to sell. The salesman, as a rule, almost, is expected to gain all this information through inspiration. Some actually seem to obtain it in this way; more, certainly, do not. One thing, however, is certain: the store where the salesmen are properly instructed in their duties and in things upon which customers may reasonably expect to obtain information will certainly prove a more acceptable shopping place to the intelligent bookbuyer than one in which these methods do not prevail.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & CO.'S JUBILEE.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co., the agents for Eyre & Spottiswoode, the "Queen's Printers," London, England, are celebrating the golden jubilee of the establishment in America of the London Bible Warehouse, the oldest business in this country, devoted to the importation and sale of English-made Bibles.

The business of the London Bible Warehouse was established in New York City in 1848 by Eyre & Spottiswoode, who were among the first of English publishers to open branch houses in the United States. From 1848 to 1868 the business was owned by Eyre & Spottiswoode, and was managed by clerks in their employ. In 1868 Pott & Amery acquired the ownership of this business by purchase; they in turn were succeeded, in 1871, by Pott, Young & Co., and in 1882 the firm style was changed to E. & J. B. Young & Co.

An interesting souvenir of the original establishment of this business is to-day in the possession of the present management. It is the inventory of goods on hand January 1, 1849, at the then place of business, Platt Street, New York City. A perusal of these pages, written half a century ago, demonstrates that "Pock't Bibles" were then, as now, an important staple in the trade.

During the fifty years of unbroken business activity of the London Bible Warehouse it has kept pace with the times. It has introduced in the manufacture of Bibles and Prayer-Books many novelties which have since become established conventions. In 1875 it first published the "Teachers' Bible;" that this project had anticipated a public need was evidenced by its success, which very soon led to the publication of competing books. In 1893 it published the enlarged "Variorum Teachers' Bible," as a climax to a twenty years' steady development of the "Teachers' Bible." When the Episcopal Church, in 1892, completed its work of the revision of the Prayer-Book, this house exerted itself most actively to furnish churchmen in America with everything that could be desired, conforming to the new standard.

From 1868, when the ownership of the London Bible Warehouse passed into American hands down to the present time, intimate and cordial relationship has been maintained with the English firm, Eyre & Spottiswoode, known throughout the world as the "Queen's Printers," who occupy the distinguished honor of being the oldest Bible printers in the world, and the successors of Caxton and Wynkyn De Worde, the first and second King's Printers.

CHEAPER INTERNATIONAL POSTAGE.

JOHN A. MERRITT, the Third Assistant Postmaster-General, in his annual report recommends immediate negotiations with the postal administrations of England, Germany, and France to reduce the international postage rates to two cents for a half ounce or fraction thereof. The report says:

"The administrations named have direct or separate postal intercourse to a large extent with our country, and consequently are more likely to agree to the change desired than the administrations of inland countries that have to pay transportation charges to the seacoast to intermediary nations. The English administration particularly will probably assent to the proposed arrangement, for it has but recently decided to adopt the two-cent rate on letters between the British Islands and Canada, as well as other parts of the Empire—the change being ordered to take effect on December 25 next.

"The Department now realizes nothing in the way of revenue from ocean letters, practically all the postage paid on them going to the steamship companies carrying the mails. If the rate should be reduced the same state of things would exist; the Department would still get nothing and lose nothing, and the steamship companies would suffer no hardship, for the stimulus given to correspondence by the reduction of rate would no doubt eventually at least give them as much compensation in the way of postage as they now get.

"An ocean penny postage would connect and permeate all the sea-divided communities of mankind with myriads of new ties and veins, to strengthen and beautify their brotherhood with bonds of sympathy and the circulation of knowledge. It would be one of the most powerful aids to the work of Christian missions. An ocean penny postage is demanded by the social necessities of the Anglo-Saxon race. The reduction does not require action of Congress, as the Postmaster-General has authority, under Section 398 of the Revised Statutes."

COMMUNICATIONS.

THE BOOK COLLECTOR'S LEAGUE.

26 QUINCY ST., N. ADAMS, MASS.

Tuesday, 11 October, 1898.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Can I through you either obtain information concerning a so-called "Publisher" in New York, or else warn others in regard to some of the practices of the "firm"? The method of operation pursued here was as follows: two stylishly dressed young women were driven about in a surrey; one remained in the carriage while the other called at various houses offering the opportunity to buy books at the same discount at which "their firm" were accustomed to supply the faculty of Smith and Wellesley, mentioning sometimes one, sometimes the other. They had evidently studied the alumnae registers of these two colleges well. I was, consequently, one at whose house a call was made. Now, it happens that either from my Library School training, or because I am a trustee of our Public Library, many people in our small city look upon me as an authority as to books and editions. These women called twice at my home but failed to find me or even to gain entrance to the house; yet they constantly made use of my name, saying to one that I had sent them to her, to another, that I was a customer of "their firm," and to a third that I had bought all my books of them for seven years, and that one of them had catalogued my library! As additional bait, they did seem to have in their possession a few of the Macmillan publications—the "Temple Shakespeare," for one thing—which they sold at a fair discount for cash down. Most of the sets they offered, Dickens, Hugo, Dumas, etc., they sold on instalment. Soon after their disappearance from town the books came, in nearly every case to the extreme dissatisfaction of the buyer. One set of Dickens, 15 vols. at $45.00, consisted of volumes which I should judge might have been put on the market at an expense of about 30 cents per volume; poor paper and print; binding, skiver, and the very cheapest red and white marbled paper. The imprint was simply "Published for Subscribers only by the Book Collector's League, New York."

Letters written asking for redress received in the first case vague answers; announcement of intention to return the volumes met a reply threatening suit. My acquaintances who were bitten have answered, "sue," and are now awaiting with interest further developments. The letters from "the firm" have a most elaborate letter-head, as follows:

Francis R. Niglutsch, Fine Art Publisher,
General Offices, Maillard Building,
36 E. 14th St., (Union Sq.)

Wholesale and Shipping Department,
128 University Place.

Jas. W. Corcoran, Gen'l Supt.

Gen. Agencies Hartford, Scranton, Worcester, Providence, Newark, Albany.

Branch Houses, Cor. Univ. Pl. & 14th St.,
298-300 Washington St., Brooklyn,
218 Tremont St., Boston, 227 So. Sixth St., Phila.

Cable address, Niglutsch, N. Y.

It would seem to be for the interest of booksellers everywhere to defend themselves from such a "firm" as this, for what they take in under false pretences is so much less in the tills of reputable booksellers.

Very truly yours,

ANNIE B. JACKSON.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HAROLD FREDERIC, the London correspondent of the New York Times, died on the 19th inst. at Henley, England, aged forty-two years. He was born at Utica, N. Y., August 19, 1856. His boyhood was spent on a small farm managed by his mother—his father, Henry De Motte Frederic, having died when Harold was but two years old. In 1874 he became proofreader in the office of the Utica Herald. Six years later he had risen through all the intermediate grades to the position of chief editorial writer on the Utica Observer. On September 1, 1882, he took editorial charge of the Albany Evening Journal, conducting it as an independent paper. His connection with the New York Times began in 1884, when he took charge of its foreign bureau, of which he remained the head until his death. As a correspondent his letters were always interesting and sometimes graphic, as in the case of his description of the cholera scourge in France in 1884. Although the greater part of his life was devoted to newspaper work, yet he made a name in the purely literary field. His first long novel was "Seth's Brother's Wife," and was published in 1887. This was followed by "In the Valley" (1889); "The Lawton Girl" (1890); "The Return of the O'Mahony" (1892); "The Copperhead" (1894); "Marsena" (1895); "The Damnation of Theron Ware" and "March Hares" (1896); "Gloria Mundi," Mr. Frederic's latest story, is now running as a serial through the Cosmopolitan. Practically all of this fiction was composed to illustrate American life. It is solidly written, and reveals careful observation and understanding of human nature. "The Damnation of Theron Ware" and "March Hares" achieved great popularity, especially in England, where "The Damnation of Theron Ware" was published under the name of "Illumination." In 1892 Frederic published the results of his observations in Russia in book form with the title "The New Exodus, a study of Israel in Russia." He also published in book form an interesting study of the character and public career of William II. of Germany, under the title of "The Young Emperor."

ROBERT HENLOPPEN LABBERTON died in New York City on the 13th inst. He was born in Marseilles, France, in 1812, of an old Dutch family. He came to this country in 1834, and was private tutor in many prominent Philadelphia families. In 1853 he was elected to fill the chair of Greek at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1873 he was called to the chair of history in the University of California, but ill-health caused him to decline the offer. Shortly after he became professor of history in Barnard College. For a short time he was professor of political economy at Columbia University. He wrote on historical subjects, and published "Outlines of History" and a "New Historical Atlas and General History." For the last thirty years he was at work on a "History of the World." The completed volumes in ancient history will be published. Professor Labberton retired from active work in 1890.

WILLIE J. WIANT, who was associated with his brother, C. G. Wiant, bookseller, Marion, O., died of consumption on September 20, aged twenty-seven years.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ANATOLE FRANCE is about to publish another volume of his "Histoire Contemporaine," and he is writing a new novel to be called "L'Île d'Amour."

REGINALD DE KOVEN, the composer, and H. C. Chatfield-Taylor, the novelist, are together writing a play to be entitled "The Manners of Good Society."

EDOUARD ROD, the novelist, and a well-known contributor to the Revue des Deux-Mondes, has been engaged by the Cercle Français de l'Université Harvard to give a course of lectures on French literature under its directions before Harvard University during the coming academic year. These annual series of lectures were inaugurated last year by René Doumic, the literary critic of the Revue des Deux-Mondes. Paul Bourget, of the French Academy, will probably be the Cercle lecturer in the year 1900.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

J. H. SLATER, who edits "Book Prices Current," has in press a descriptive survey of a collection of illustrated works of a sporting and racy character, with an appendix of prints relating to field sports. This book will appear in November.

TEMPLE SCOTT's "Book Sales of 1898" will be published at the beginning of the new season's auction sales, on November 1, and will include the whole of the sale of the Ashburnham collection of books. The edition will consist of five hundred copies only.

THE BOSTON BOOK CO., 15½ Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., has just issued as No. 5 of its Bulletin of Bibliography Pamphlets "A Reading List on Library Buildings," compiled by Louise Beerstecher Krause, of the University of Illinois. (16 p. 12°, pap.; 25 c.)

THE BAKER & TAYLOR CO., 5 East 16th Street, New York, have published "An Annotated List of Books relating to Literature and Education published in 1897 and 1898," which will be found useful by teachers and librarians. (Librarian's Help Series, No. 3, 16 p., 16°.)

SIGM. POLLAK, 12 Üllőerstr., Budapest, has compiled a "Bibliotheca Bibliographica Hungarica," which will cover the subject by cities, from 1500 to 1900. The first part, entitled "Bibliotheca Weszprimiensis," will appear in January next. The price per part will be five marks.

ELIOT STOCK, 62 Paternoster Row, London, has just ready the twelfth volume of "Book Prices Current—a record of the prices at which books have been sold at auction, from December, 1897, to the close of the season, [July 30.] 1898." Although the volume is published three months earlier than usual, it contains more material and more pages than an ordinary twelve months' volume, in consequence of the Ashburnham and other important sales included in the volume. Hereafter the volume will appear in September. (40+738 p. 8°, cl., £1 7s. 6d., net.) Mr. Stock announces that if enough subscribers can be found who are willing to pay one guinea he will prepare a general index to the first ten volumes of "Book Prices Current." It does not seem possible that any owner of a set of "Book Prices Current" would hesitate to subscribe so insignificant an amount for so exceedingly useful a work of reference as such an index is bound to be.

CATALOGUE OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—L. C. Braun, 17 Denmark St., Charing Cross R'd, London, C. W., Fine arts, archaeology, topography, and heraldry. (No. 12, 655 titles.)—A. S. Foley, 26 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass., First editions of American and English authors in original bindings, dramatic literature, bibliography, Americana, trials, books relating to Ireland. (No. 5, 835 titles. A catalogue worth keeping. Of particular interest to collectors of the works of Kipling, Lamb, and Locker-Lampson, and of North's bibliographies of these writers.)—Goodenough & Woglom Co., 122 Nassau St., N. Y., Approved books for the Sunday-school library, 1898 ed. (50 p. 8°)—Charles Scribner's Sons, 153 Fifth Ave., N. Y., Musical Libraries, embracing works in every department of musical literature. (24 p. 16°; also, Supplement to Scribner's Musical Literature List. (40 p. 24°.)—M. Spiegatis, 23 Marienstr., Leipzig, Romanische sprachen und Litteraturen. (No. 62, 1578 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HERBERT S. STONE & Co., Chicago, will publish shortly Miss Helen Hay's "Poems," and a new volume by Maria Louise Pool, entitled "A Golden Sorrow."

THOMAS WHITTAKER will publish shortly a new work by the Rev. J. H. Rylance, D.D., entitled "Christian Rationalism: essays on matters in debate between faith and unbelief."

BELFORD, MIDDLEBROOK & Co., 277 Dearborn Street, Chicago, have published a collection of "Cartoons of the War of 1898 with Spain from leading foreign and American papers."

W. H. LOWDERMILK & Co., Washington, D. C., have just ready the eleventh edition of "Bump on Bankruptcy," revised and adapted to the Bankruptcy Act of July 1, 1898, by Eugene Williams.

RICHARD G. BADGER & Co., Boston, will soon issue a "romance of the harem," by James Jeffery Roche, editor of The Pilot, to be entitled "His Majesty the King;" also, a novel by Julia Magruder called "Struan."

SWAN SONNENSCHEIN & Co. will publish shortly a novel by the widow of Captain Mayne Reid, entitled "George Markham, a romance of the West." As with most of Captain Reid's stories, the scene of his widow's book is laid in Western America.

IT begins to seem probable now that the last volume of the "Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies" will be published within the next three years—thirty-six years after the end of the Civil War and twenty-seven years after the compilation was begun.

HADLEY & MATHEWS, New York, have purchased the American rights to the work entitled "Emin Pasha—his life and work, compiled from his journals, letters, scientific notes, and from official documents," by Georg Schweitzer, Emin Pasha's executor. The book will be ready in about two weeks.

THE Langenscheidtsche Verlags-Buchhandlung, Berlin, has published two German handbooks for learning the Russian language, by Adolph Garbell, entitled "Russische Fibel," and "Elemente der russischen Sprachlehre." Garbell is teacher of the Russian language at the Kgl. Technische Hochschule at Charlottenburg and founder of a well-known Russian encyclopædia.

M. F. MANSFIELD & Co. announce American editions from the press of John Long, London, of the following books: "With Bought Swords," a story of a South American Revolution, by a writer who hides his identity under the pseudonym of Harry Fowler; "All They Went Through," by Frederick William Robinson, long a contributor to The Graphic, Gentleman's Magazine, etc.; and "The Sea of Love," a volume of bizarre stories, by Walter Phelps Dodge, formerly Secretary to the American Legation at Athens, and author of "Three Greek Tales" and "A Strong Man Armed"

EDWIN A. DENHAM, representing Alexander Denham & Co., formerly of New York and now of 27 Bloomsbury Square, London, is at present in New York with a number of rare and interesting books, chiefly of the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries, but including some of earlier date. Mr. Denham has taken rooms at 137 Fifth Avenue, where he will be pleased to show his books to all who may be interested. He has also some rare autographs and fine illuminated manuscripts. Mr. Denham was accompanied on his way over by B. A. Quaritch, son of the famous bookseller, and Anton Mensing, of the well-known firm of Frederick Müller, of Amsterdam, Holland.

THE MARION PRESS, (Frank E. Hopkins,) Jamaica, N. Y., has in preparation "Some Unpublished Letters of Henry D. and Sophia E. Thoreau," of which an edition of 150 copies will be published in November; "Classic English Odes," selected with an introduction by Frank L. Babbott; "The Bull in the China Shop," poems by the author of "Vanities in Verse;" "Account of the Departure of Charles, Prince of Wales, from Madrid, in 1623," now first translated from the Spanish by Archer M. Huntington; "The Tsar's Peace, and Other Dreams," by William Reed Huntington; "The New Gulliver," a fable, by Wendell P. Garrison, of which an edition of 120 copies, bound in full horsehide, will be published at once; and "The World as it Is," by Edward Lytton Bulwer.

THE DODGE BOOK AND STATIONERY Co., 317 Broadway, New York, announces a new edition of "Cupid's Game with Hearts," illustrated; "Heraldry Simplified," by Fred Curtiss; "Wild Flowers of California," an attractive gift-book, by E. C. Alexander; "The Little Brown Dog," a story by Elizabeth Strong Worthington; and "One-Armed Jack," a story for young people, by Marie Morelle. They have nearly ready the following calendars: "Real Chinese," with back-scratcher and Chinese coins, printed on "real" Chinese paper; "The Art Calendar," by Albertine Randall Wheelan, printed on Japan proof, also on bristol; "The American Girl," six pen-and-ink drawings on Japan, also on bristol; "Chinese Children," by Gertrude Partington, printed on Japan proof, also on bristol; "The Great Artists," printed on fine paper and mounted; "California Missions," by William H. Bull, reproduced in colors; and "A Tale of Cupids by the Sea," six drawings in colors.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. have this week published Gilbert Parker's new story, "The Battle of the Strong," and the demand for it previous to publication was so great that the first large edition was oversold before the book was published. A second impression is now being made. Among their books is one of real importance on "The Tides, and Kindred Phenomena in the Solar System," by Professor Darwin, of Cambridge University, a son of the famous discoverer of Darwinism; "The Black Curtain," a strong and very readable California story, by Flora Haines Loughhead; "A World of Green Hills," in which Bradford Torrey describes the mountain region of Virginia and North Carolina, and the birds which he found there; "The Story of Little Jane and Me," a delightfully simple story of girl-life in New York fifty years ago; a Holiday edition of Hawthorne's "Wonder-Book" and "Tanglewood Tales," in one volume, with many illustrations; and "Miss Brooks," a popular story by Miss Eliza Orne White, taken over by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. from the list of Messrs. Roberts Brothers.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK CO. have just published "The Life of William Terriss," the popular English actor who was murdered last winter. The book has been written by A. J. Smith, and contains an introduction by Clement Scott. They will publish shortly a work for those interested in foreign missions, entitled "British Guiana, or, work and wanderings among the creoles and coolies, the Africans and Indians of the wild country," by Rev. L. Crookall; "Christian Profiles in a Pagan Mirror," by Rev. Joseph Parker, of the London City Temple; "The Correspondence of Princess Elizabeth of England, Landgravine of Hesse-Homburg," with a preface by Prof. Philip C. Yorke, of Oxford; and an account, by Dr. Guido Biagi, of the catastrophe which closed the life of Shelley, the identity of the spot where his body was washed up, and the recovery of the Ariel gathered from the archives at Florence, Lucca, Leghorn and viva voce from certain old sailors at Viareggio who were present at the discovery of Shelley's remains. They have just taken the American agency for Bradshaw's "Directory of European Bathing Places, Climatic Health Resorts, Sea Baths, and Hydropathic Establishments."

T. Y. CROWELL & CO. will publish immediately "The Land of the Pigmies," by Captain Guy Burrows, Captain Commandant in the service of the Congo Free State, who spent many months in the hitherto unexplored regions now known as the district of the Upper Uelle between the M'Booner and the Aruwimi Rivers. No white man had ever before visited the cannibal tribes that dwell there and very little was known about the pygmies except that their existence was definitely proved. Captain Burrows lived among them and had a unique opportunity of studying their manners and customs; and he gives a most entertaining description of his experiences. Henry M. Stanley, M.P., writes an official introduction for the book, which is dedicated by permission to His Majesty the King of Belgium. The volume will contain more than 200 illustrations. A peculiar interest attaches to the publication of these records of adventure from the fact that it is supposed that Captain Burrows is the Englishman who has anticipated the French in reaching and occupying Fashoda on the Nile. It is known that he was making every exertion to get there first. They will add to their What is Worth While Series "Don't Worry," by Theodore F. Seward. It is said that the "Don't worry" movement grew out of the suggestions embodied in this little book, first privately published by Mr. Seward.

ADMIRERS of the late Anton Seidl will have an opportunity during the coming musical season of possessing themselves of a volume which will be a unique addition to musical literature. Lilli Lehmann, Marianne Brandt, Lillian Nordica, Albert Niemann, Jean de Reszke, and other eminent artists will contribute reminiscences of Anton Seidl as a man and musician, while his methods at rehearsals will be described by Victor Herbert, H. H. Huss, F. Kaltenborn, and other New Yorkers who knew him well. There will be critical appreciations by H. E. Krehbiel, J. Huneker, A. Steinberg, A. Spanuth, H. T. Finck, and others, and the tribute to Seidl contained in the telegram from Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, which was read at the funeral services at the Metropolitan Opera House. The biographic sketch will be written by H. T. Finck, with the assistance of Mrs. Seidl, who has placed at his disposal the great conductor's letters from Wagner and other eminent musicians, some of which will be printed in facsimile. Several portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Seidl will be inserted, besides reprints of articles on Wagner and his art, written at various times by Seidl, who wielded an incisive pen, though he seldom wrote for publication. The book will be published for the benefit of Mrs. Seidl by Charles Scribner's Sons. Subscribers, to ensure possession of a numbered copy (price $5), should send their name and address to the Scribners, or to the music stores of Schubert or Ditson, or to Miss Elizabeth Hunt Welling, 46 Park Avenue, New York City, who is acting treasurer and keeps the subscription lists.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AUBURN, Mo.—G. W. Hasbell has sold out his book business in the Y. M. C. A. block.

BATAVIA, N. Y.—Charles K. Hayes, bookseller, has been succeeded by Orville L. Howard.

CARRABELLE, FLA.—W. H. Lawrence has moved his bookstore and news-stand to a new location. He is publishing the Republican of Middle Florida in addition to his book business. Mr. Lawrence will be glad to receive catalogues and samples from publishers.

COHOES, N. Y.—John Campbell, bookseller and stationer, has failed. Mr. Campbell has been in the same store for twenty-nine years, thirteen of them as an employee of W. E. McLean, and for sixteen years as proprietor. The stock will be sold at auction.

COLUMBUS, GA.—C. P. Pitchford bought at sheriff's sale the stock of the Columbian Book Company for $780.

COLUMBUS, O.—Quinius & Ridenour have leased the fine store-room formerly occupied by Uirlin & Pfeifer, and will open November, with a complete line of fine holiday goods. They will continue to run their old store and the various book departments in the dry-goods stores, of which they are managers and proprietors.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Edward B. Sweeny's book and stationery store has been sold by the sheriff. It was bought in, in trust for Mrs. Rebecca Sweeny. Edward B. Sweeny has removed to Jeanette and opened a bookstore there.

JACKSON, TENN.—The firm of Kolm & Joseph, booksellers, has been dissolved. The business will be conducted by Mr. Joseph under the name of The Joseph Bookstore.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—D. A. Hufford & Co. have opened a book and stationery store at 226 West Sixth Street.

MARINETTE, WIS.—J. S. Greenlaw has opened a periodical and newspaper store next to the post-office, with a view to having eventually a first-class bookstore. Mr. Greenlaw would be glad to have catalogues and circulars from publishers.

MONTPELIER, VT.—E. T. Seguin has moved his news-stand from George Ehle's Bookstore to the Pavilion Hotel.

NEW YORK CITY.—Justice Cohen has appointed Louis Z. Kinstler receiver for the Godey Company, publisher of Godey's Magazine, at 52 Lafayette Place, in place of Louis T. Golding, who was appointed on September 2, but declined to serve. The bond of the receiver was reduced from $10,000 to $2,000, because all the property of the company is covered by a chattel mortgage, except $500 in outstanding accounts and $200 cash.

PEORIA, ILL.—Ames & Co., booksellers, have sold out.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Henry T. Coates & Co., publishers and booksellers, have leased new quarters at 1222 Chestnut Street, one block below their old quarters. They contemplate removing before the new year, and may possibly be settled in their new store before the actual rush of the holiday shopping.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—S. A. Jenkins, late of Zanesville, O., opened at 1512 Chestnut Street a store stocked with a complete line of staple and fancy stationery.

PONCE, SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO.—The American Exchange, 1 Plaza, write: "Will you notice in your WEEKLY that parties in Ponce are desirous of receiving catalogues of American publications, and discounts?"

SOMERVILLE, MASS.—E. N. Goldthwait has opened a periodical and variety store at 44 Broadway.

SPRINGFIELD, O.—Carson Bros. Co. has signed.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

IN answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

—NEW BOOKS—

The Battle of the Strong.

By GILBERT PARKER, author of "The Seats of the Mighty," etc. 12mo, $1.50.

The appearance of a fresh novel by Mr. Gilbert Parker is a notable literary event. "The Battle of the Strong" opens on the Isle of Jersey in 1781, crosses to France, follows the march of soldiers and the course of true love; echoes the cries of the French Revolution and gleams with the swords of La Vendée. It is the most important novel yet written by Mr. Parker, and one of the most interesting of the current year.

N. B.—The first large edition of "The Battle of the Strong" is already exhausted. A second impression has been ordered.

The Tides and Kindred Phenomena in the Solar System.

By GEORGE HOWARD DARWIN, Plumian Professor and Fellow, Trinity College University of Cambridge. With illustrations and diagrams. 12mo, $2.00.

This book embodies the results of many years of observation and study, and is the most authoritative volume yet written on the causes, origin, movements, and diversity of tides. Its interest is greatly increased by its treatment of similar phenomena in the vast system of which our earth is so small a part.

The Black Curtain.

A Novel. By FLORA HAINES LOUGHEAD, author of "The Man who was Guilty" and "The Abandoned Claim." 12mo, $1.50.

A thoroughly interesting story of California, which in plot and narrative skill well sustains the high reputation Mrs. Loughead won by her two previous stories.

A World of Green Hills.

By BRADFORD TORREY, author of "Birds in the Bush," "The Foot-Path Way," etc. 16mo, gilt top, $1.25.

The "Green Hills" are the mountain region of Virginia and North Carolina, where Mr. Torrey finds many birds which are old New England acquaintances. His genius for observation and his art in description are as fresh and delightful as ever.

The Story of Little Jane and Me.

By M. E. Square 12mo, $1.00.

A charming book for young girls, a story of actual childhood in New York City a half century ago. It gives an uncommonly truthful and humorous reminiscence of child life.

Miss Brooks.

By ELIZA ORNE WHITE, author of "Winterborough," "A Lover of Truth," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

This novel, formerly brought out by Messrs. Roberts Brothers, is henceforth to be on the list of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., who publish Miss White's other books.

A Wonder-Book, and Tanglewood Tales.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. Holiday Edition. With illustrations. Crown 8vo, with a decorative binding, $2.00.

An attractive Holiday Edition of these exquisite stories.

NOW READY :

"Essays on Work and Culture"

By HAMILTON W. MABIE.

16mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.25.

This is a companion volume to the "Essays on Books and Culture" and "Essays on Nature and Culture" which have lately appeared.

In this volume of essays Mr. Mabie has endeavored to point out the relationship of work to the spiritual and intellectual development of the worker; to indicate the different elements which stamp work with character and success; and to show some of the methods by which a man may give his work the utmost individuality, distinction, and power. Work is interpreted, in other words, as the expression of a man's life through his activities, and as the chief instrument of his development and growth. The chapters, although forming a whole, are independent, and the essay form has been preserved throughout. The book is literary rather than pedagogical in intention and quality.

Mr. Mabie's works are now published in uniform style in a new edition, each in dainty binding, 16mo, cloth, gilt tops, per volume, $1.25.

The works are as follows:

Essays on Work and Culture (New); Essays on Books and Culture; Essays on Nature and Culture; My Study Fire; My Study Fire, Second Series; Under the Trees and Elsewhere; Short Studies in Literature; Essays in Literary Interpretation.

PUBLISH TO-DAY:

THE WORKERS—THE WEST.

By WALTER A. WYCKOFF,

Assistant Professor of Political Economy at Princeton University. Illustrated by W. R. Leigh. 12mo, $1.50.

With this second volume Professor Wyckoff closes his absolutely unique narrative of the experiences of a scholar in earning his living as an unskilled laborer. These Western pictures are full of life and color, for the author describes his life in the terrible slums of Chicago, the anarchists, the labor unions, and the starving unemployed, as well as the wheat farms, deep mines, and cattle plains of the Far West.

"It is doubtful if a more interesting contribution to social science has ever been written."—The Interior.
"The merits of Mr. Wyckoff's economic studies are incontestable. The lesson they teach every man in this great country of ours should take to heart."—New York Times.

Already published: THE WORKERS—THE EAST. Third Edition. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.25.

Frontier Stories.

By CY WARMAN, author of "Tales of an Engineer." 12mo, $1.25.

The characteristic simplicity with which Mr. Warman here depicts some of the romantic aspects of frontier life throws into striking relief the real existence, where romance is an every-day reality.

WILD ANIMALS I HAVE KNOWN.

By ERNEST SETON THOMPSON. With 200 illustrations from drawings by the author. Square 12mo, $2.00.

Each one of the wild animals whose story is told by Mr. Thompson has been either a close acquaintance, or so thoroughly studied that his characteristics appear as markedly personal as if the personality behind them were human. How animals feel, think, and evince individual temperament, in a state of nature, has nowhere been so vividly shown heretofore. Mr. Thompson's illustrations strikingly reinforce the text.

The Billy Goat, and Other Comicalities.

By E. W. KEMBLE. With over 100 drawings. Oblong 12mo, $1.00.

Mr. Kemble's drawings are sure to supply an unlimited amount of fun, and the many examples in this volume are mirth-compelling in the extreme.

George W. Cable's Romances.

The Tarryawhile Edition.
A new edition in five uniform volumes, handsomely bound. Each volume, 12mo, $1.50. These old favorites are sure of a welcome in their new dress, and the edition is peculiarly appropriate just now when Mr. Cable's work is receiving such widespread recognition abroad. The volumes are "Old Creole Days," "Dr. Sevier," "Bonaventure," "The Grandissimes," and "John March, Southerner."

The Hundred Years' War.

JUST PUBLISHED:

FASHION IN PARIS.

The Various Phases of Feminine Taste and Aesthetics from 1797 to 1897. By OCTAVE UZANNE. Translated by Lady Mary Loyd. With 100 full-page, hand-colored plates and 250 text illustrations by François Courbin. Limited Edition. Royal 8vo, $15.00. These plates represent complete scenes of various times from the Directory, the First Empire, the Restoration, and the Second Empire, down to to-day, every detail being historically correct.

The New York Times says: "The illustrations are very beautiful and are very far removed from fashion plates by reason of their art and the suggested action of the figures, while they convey an idea of French art in costume that was displayed at different periods."

Antigone, and Other Portraits of Women.

By PAUL BOURGET. From the French by W. Marchant. 12mo, $1.50.

According to the ingenious idea which binds these stories together, they contain portraits of various women encountered in the journeys of which the author is so fond. M. Monod in Literature says: "'Antigone' may be considered a masterpiece of psychological analysis and dramatic exposition."

The Heart of Toil.

By OCTAVE THANET. Illustrated by A. B. Frost and C. S. Reinhart. 12mo, $1.50.

"She has presented to the reading public a series of truthful pictures of life among the solid, middle-class people of the West, who constitute its strength and are the hope of its future.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MUSIC AND MANNERS IN THE CLASSICAL PERIOD.

Essays. By H. E. KREHBIEL, author of "How to Listen to Music." 12mo, $1.50.

"Haydn's diary is a delicious revelation of the life and manners in the London of his day. . . . There are also excellent chapters on Thayer, the biographer of Beethoven, the Beethoven museum at Bonn, and the influence of Goethe and Liszt as traced in a visit to Wiemar. Taking it all in all, this is an uncommonly valuable book."—New York Times.
